EVALUATION OF TRAINING:
3. All the training was given by three very competent NCO's of the 10th Special Forces Group and since it was given as a tutorial a great deal of material and help could be given the student. In general the training was oriented toward making GRBERG a useful active GW/UW asset. A slightly less intensive coverage of the theories and organization of GW will enable him to at least understand the needs, management and planning of a GW unit. GRBERG was given a good deal of practice in the various techniques taught and demonstrated, and in general was handled as a "doer" rather than an organizer.
EVALUATION OF GRBERG'S PERFORMANCE:
4. GRBERG was an apt, conscientious and diligent student. He displayed a strong mechanical aptitude and thus reached a level of proficiency in the handling of weapons and explosives that would enable him to instruct others in these subjects. He at all times followed orders and instructions and caused his instructors no cause for concern about safety or security procedures. He is basically an intelligent young man, and in spite of his limited formal education, displayed a good understanding of all theoretical subjects given him. His S. F. Group instructors expressed their evaluation of him by saying that they would be very happy to have him working with them, if the need ever arose.
PLANS FOR GRBERG'S DISPOSITION:
5. [] will next meet with GRBERG 14 September 1962 to complete his training and to arrange for future contact. He will be taught some of the basic techniques of clandestine activities including security, meetings and communications. It is anticipated that this additional training will be completed during the fall, at which time he will be asked to establish a D/L drop for possible wartime use, and he will be given an accommodation address for his future contact with KUBARK. He will be given a termination bonus of six months' salary and be told to expect us to contact him on an annual basis to see if he is still in place. The following fact and incident can be used to establish bona fides with him at some future date: During his week of training he stayed at the "Die Alte Post" Gasthaus in Halskirchen, and one of his instructor's family came over to Bad Teolz from PEPRIME.
